

Richard—Piano

Richard is a recent graduate of Bard College in upstate New York with more than sixteen years of experience playing piano. From New Jersey, he began his studies with John Schwarko before moving on to work with Carol Ferri, one of the leading piano teachers in New Jersey. He later spent a year at Mannes in the pre-college program before moving on to Bard where he studied solo piano with Blair McMillen, as well as taking part in the performance classes of Louis Garcia Renart. He has recently worked with the Atlanta Concert Series to bring local businesses and the arts together for small, affordable concerts. He is classically trained and has a repertoire ranging from Baroque to Contemporary music.

Richard works with students of all ages and a wide range of previous experience in piano. At the center of his musical practice is an emphasis on musicality, personal expression, and developing a thorough understanding of the structure of the music.
