

Rosa—Cello

Cellist Rosa, a native of Minneapolis, graduated from the University of Minnesota with a BM in Cello Performance, studying under Tanya Remenikova. She has participated in master classes by renowned artists such as Peter Wiley and Marc Destrube. Rosa has also studied under Allison Wells at the Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University, Tony Ross of the Minnesota Orchestra and chamber music coach Bruce Coppock.

Rosa has had a passion for music ever since she began playing the cello at age 6. After playing her instrument for more than 20 years, Rosa has performed with local musicians in a variety of venues including the Dakota Jazz Club, Icehouse and the Ordway Center for the Performing Arts. She performs often for church services, private parties and weddings. Rosa has been on the faculty of the Conservatory of Music at Yinghua Academy since 2016. She loves getting to know each student individually and finding creative ways to share the joy of music based on each student's goals and needs.
